

Background Research on Topic

Student's Name _____

Student's Topic _____

Before you can develop your claim, you need to do background research on your topic. This means reading sources from both points of view. A good starting point is the SIRs Database in the Logan Library. Use this organizer to identify and summarize three sources. Write a summary of each article, focusing on the argument and evidence in each source. Be sure to include a source with an opposing point of view.

Source #1:
Summary of argument:

Source #2:

Summary of argument:

Source #3:

Summary of argument: